A Grandfather For Sale.

'It's all very well for you Cabot, to quote that trite remark about rank being only the guinea's stamp. You know as well as I do that the social guinea—here in Boston, of all places—must be stamped before it will go into circulation. Society strongly resembles retail trade in this one particular. Let me offer a lump of the purest gold to any small dealer as payment for the goods I have bought of him, and he would at once say he'd rather have the dirtiest bank note in town than my unstamped metal; wouldn't he?'

'Well, I suppose he would. If we were in a more primitive state of existence the yellow metal, as it came from mother earth, would satisfy our greed. Now it has to be vouched for as gold before it can take its proper position among the other circulating mediums.'

'Exactly so! And as we are not in a primitive state, but a very 'highly cultured' one, for example. I need to have a stamp before I can pass muster. All the wealth my Midas of a father left to me will not take me more than just so far; yet I dress according to the laws of to-day, I don't eat with my knife, I know how to raise my hat to a lady; in short, I flatter myself that I make a fairly good appearance. But I have no grandfather worth speaking of!' And though there was mock pathos in his tone, Maxwell Jennings meant more of what he said than he would have been willing his companion should suspect.

Edgar Cabot glanced at him a little contemptuously; then he allowed his eyes to wander enviously around the luxurious appointments of Maxwell's rooms. Everything bespoke an abundance of both money and taste on the part of the one who resided there. A casual observer would never have supposed that a man who could appreciate the engravings and books which crowded the walls and tables was a mushroom of an hour, the son of a man who had amassed a large fortune by the manufacture of rum and judicious speculations in stocks and mines. The moment that Tom Jennings's business and all other possessions fell into his son's hands, that young man sold the obnoxious distilleries and went abroad for three years to finish the studies his father had sent him there to begin. Old Tom Jennings had the sense to know that he could never aspire to any higher position in life than the one he was born into; but he was determined to 'make Max a gentleman,' and so far as cultivation and study could do it, he succeeded.

'By Jupiter, Jennings, if I had a tithe of your money I wouldn't care a picayune if I hadn't a grandfather!' sighed Cabot, whose bank account was as short as his pedigree was long.

'And I, Cabot, would give a hundred thousand dollars this minute if I had one of your dignified ancestors,' Jennings answered earnestly. 'Yes, I'd give it gladly if I in any way I could claim a great-uncle or grandfather of note!

'A fellow has a perfect right to sell what is indubitably his own, hasn't he?' asked Cabot, thoughtfully.

'Of course he has.'

'I, as everyone knows, am the last of my line of the Cabots. I am badly in want of money; you think yourself—or, to be more exact, Dr. and Mrs. Randall think you—badly in want of ancestors. What will you give me for, say old Colonel Cabot? The one, you know, who was killed in King Philip's war.'

'What an absurd idea!' exclaimed Jennings, with a laugh.

'Not at all absurd. The old codger is now my great uncle; if I sell him to you, why, of course, he'll be your's. Or, if you don't like him, there's my grandfather, Judge Cabot—how will he fill your bill? Now, Jennings, don't look so amused. I assure you I am in dead earnest. I am so hard up I'd sell my soul—much more such a trifle as a grandfather—for a hundred thousand dollars.'

Jennings knew that Cabot spoke the truth about his financial condition, and being a good-natured fellow, who was grateful to Cabot for several introductions which he valued very highly, especially the one to the aforementioned Randalls, determined to help Cabot out of his pecuniary quagmire by humoring him in his ridiculous proposition.

'I declare, Cabot, if the thing were feasible I'd accept your offer with immense gratitude. But suppose I should tell anyone that Judge Cabot belonged to me, who would believe me?'

'If you were to buy him of me you'd give me a receipt for him, I suppose? Just as I would give you a receipt for the money you paid me for him.'

'Certainly I should,' answered Jennings, laughing at the idea of giving a receipt for an ancestor.

'Then you could truthfully say that you had documentary evidence that Judge Cabot was an ancestor of your own, and that would settle it, as I would be careful to say so, too, for people rarely insist upon one's proving that So-and-So is his 'kin'; and if anybody was still dubious you could be justly indignant because your word was doubted.'

'I think if I buy one of them I would like to have the other to keep him company; he might feel lonesome so entirely out of his element. What will you take for the two?' asked Jennings, seriously.

Cabot looked fixedly at him for an instant; then, seeing that he was in earnest, answered:

'Oh, I'll not bargain with you in this trade. I'll be grateful if you will give me a hundred thousand for the two of 'em—the old Colonel and the Judge.'

'Are you sure that will satisfy you? Suppose I say a hundred and twenty-five for the two?'

'That will suit me still better, of course,' said Cabot aloud. To himself he added: 'The fellow is a bigger muff than I thought. However, he is a good fellow, and I will help him swear that they are his kinsmen, just to see how many gullible fools there are in the world.'

'How will you have the money? In bonds or real estate?' asked Jennings, 'or a happy combination of both?'

'If you are really in earnest, I would prefer a little of both.'

'Meet me at the Suffolk Bank tomorrow, at ten, and I will turn the 'tin' over to you. It is an hour that will suit you, I suppose, as you are a man of leisure?'

The hour and the whole tenor of the proposition suited Cabot to a nicety; so the next day the transfer was made, Jennings receiving, in lieu of a given sum of money, a receipt for 'all right and title to the possession of the late Colonel Henry Cabot and the late Judge Frederic Cabot, formerly the possession of Edgar Cabot, and to all honors, rank, glory, etc., which may accrue from the ownership of the same.'

A few days later Cabot proposed the name of Maxwell as a member of the very exclusive West End club to which he belonged. At this proposition there was some demur, and Cabot quietly said to one of the objectors:

'I know what you fellows are thinking of. You fancy that Max has nothing but his money to back him for admittance here, but you are mistaken. I happen to know—know, mind you—that he can claim lawful ownership in his excellency, the late Judge Cabot. He has papers in his possession which prove it.'

'Are you sure?' was the amazed inquiry.

'I am, I have seen the documents to which I refer.'

'It must have been on his mother's side if there was such relationship.'

'Did you never hear of my aunt, Letitia, who disappeared so mysteriously?'

'I thought she committed suicide.'

'Some of us Cabots are such lunatics that we think suicide preferable to a mesalliance,' replied Cabot, significantly.

So the story went around that Max Jennings had just discovered that he was a descendant of the old Cabot family, and when his name was proposed for election there was not a single black ball against him. He was accordingly notified that he was duly elected a member of the Miles Standish Club.

As soon as Jennings received this notification he hastened to the Reception Committee of said club, and explained the whole matter to them. Whereat, pleased with his frankness, and highly amused at the absurdity of the transaction, the club, at its next meeting, unanimously elected him a member 'on his own merits, and not those of his supposititious ancestors' and also, equally unanimously, dropped from its roll the name of Edgar Cabot, 'A man who could sell his grandfather not being worthy of the noble name of a Miles Standish Brother,' was the verdict.

Dr. Randall, in common with most of the sons of the first settlers, was a member of this same club, so he naturally told his wife about the transaction between Cabot and Jennings. She answered:

'I am sure it evinces a very proper feeling on Mr. Jennings' part to want a grandfather; but surely he must have known that such a sale was impossible. What better off is he for the nominal ownership of Judge Cabot?' Does it give him any of the Cabot virtues?'

'Has the actual ownership of such a grandfather given Edgar Cabot any of those virtues? Do you think the Judge has much to be proud of in such an heir?' asked her husband.

'You know, my dear, I never had any love for Edgar Cabot, and I have still less for him now. Do you suppose that Mr. Jennings had any idea that this purchase would enhance his value in our eyes? He has certainly been very attentive to Olive lately, and I have feared that she liked him too well.'

'That will never do!' exclaimed the doctor emphatically. 'I cannot have one of my girls marry the son of that old Tom Jennings, a most disreputable old creature who possessed but one virtue, that of generosity, so far as I can hear. No, no; that must not be! I have nothing against Max Jennings himself, but 'blood will tell,' you know.'

'As it has done in the case of Edgar Cabot,' said Mrs. Randall, dryly. She liked Max, and she more than suspected that Olive returned the love which Max so evidently felt for her, and she did wish that there could be some way devised by which he could be transformed into a suitable husband for her. And then his wealth, too! Poor Olive had not all the pretty things which girls of her age ought to have, the mother felt.

'There are exceptions to all rules,' said the doctor concisely, 'and Edgar Cabot is the exception to this one.'

'May not Max Jennings be also an exception?' suggested Mrs. Randall, her husband made no reply, only became suddenly very much interested in the evening paper.

A little later, in all about two months after the purchase of his ancestor, Jennings called on Dr. Randall's family one evening, and Olive's younger sister, an irrepressible girl of thirteen, named Pauline, said to him, somewhat abruptly:

'Oh, Mr. Jennings, is it true that you have bought Mr. Cabot's grandfather?'

'It is true that Judge Cabot now belongs to me—that he is my grandfather,' was Max's answer.

'Since Pauline broached the subject, Mr. Jennings,' said Mrs. Randall, 'I must own that I am a little curious to know what gave rise to this remarkable story which is going around about you and Edgar Cabot.'

'Oh, it is very simple. Cabot was hard up, and I traded off a few dollars for an ancestor or two,' replied Max lightly.

'Do you really mean to claim those dead Cabots for your own?' asked Dr. Randall, a little testily.

'I do. Why not?' was Max's query. 'Is not what you pay for your own?'

Dr. Randall could neither say yes nor no. While he was hesitating for a suitable answer which should cover the whole ground and yet not hurt Max's feelings, Max continued:

'You know, sir, that you value descent above money. Let us suppose a case: If a man had a daughter, and two men were to present themselves as suitors, the one with a good name but a poor purse, the other in exactly the reverse condition, to which would you advise her to give an affirmative answer?'

Dr. Randall appreciated the full meaning of this question, which was even harder than the previous one to be answered. He could not collect his thoughts as quickly as his older daughter did, however. Before her father could frame a reply, Olive said determinedly:

'I think it would be well to let the girl have some voice in such a matter. I think that the characters of the two men ought to be taken into consideration. I don't believe any girl would want a man who could sell his grandfather. She'd be more apt to see worthy qualities in the one who didn't consider money the only thing worth having.'

There was no mistaking the significance of Olive's tones, or of her flushed face. Dr. Randall loved his children, so, saying to himself: 'Max is at heart a gentleman, in spite of his extraction; perhaps there was good blood on his mother's side,' he pretended to make a jest of the whole matter, and answered:

'Ah, Max, you see what a minority I am in! My wife always agrees with Olive, and even Pauline echoes her, so I dare not dispute a word she says.'

Max looked pleased, and Mrs. Randall positively beamed on her husband. But fancy the feelings of all when Max said:

'The most singular part of the whole affair is this: One of my—of old Tom Jenning's friends heard of this bargain between Cabot and me, and put me in the way of proving that Tom Jennings adopted me in my earliest infancy out of an orphan asylum, where I had been placed by my mother just before her death. She was in consumption, and as her last few hours drew near she made a confidant of Tom Jenning's wife, and told her that she had been deceived by a false marriage between herself and the father of this Edgar Cabot. As the years passed, and Tom found that the Cabots were not, as a rule, dissolute men, he thought he would investigate the so-called false marriage. He did so, and found that it was a genuine one; that my father, Edgar Cabot, Sr., had no intention of deceiving my mother, but having died suddenly before my birth, had kept the marriage secret only for fear of his father's wrath, for my mother was a plain farmer's daughter, poor but honest, as the phrase is. Old Tom had become fond of me, and knowing that the Cabots had nothing to bequeath me except the name, he legally adopted me as his son. So, you see, I purchased my ancestors of my older half-brother, Edgar Cabot. I came here to-night, Dr. Randall, to tell you this story: To-morrow—'

'Max, was your mother's name Rachel?' Dr. Randall asked, abruptly.

'Yes; Rachel Dennison, of Weston Mills.'

'I was present at your birth, boy, and your mother told me this story. I investigated it for her sake, and found it was true, your father having been a widower before he met your mother. When I next saw her she was dead and the baby had vanished, so the whole thing went out of my mind until this moment.' Here the doctor had to pause to rub his spectacles, and Pauline took advantage of the brief silence to say:

'Now that you've got a grandfather of your own, I suppose you and Olive will be getting married, and then you'll be my brother Max, will you not?'

New Style of Salutation.

During his first visit to Paris, M. Lasalle, a distinguished German presented himself at the house of a well-known lady, to whom he had sent letters of introduction in advance. When the servant opened the door and received his card she conducted him to the boudoir and told him to be seated, saying:

'Madame will come immediately.'

Presently the lady entered. She was in deshabille and her feet were bare; covered only with loose slippers. She bowed to him carelessly and said'

'Ah there you are good, morning.,

She threw herself on a sofa, let fall a slipper, and reached out to Lasalle her very pretty foot.

Lasalle, naturally was completely astounded, but he remembered that at his home in Germany it was the custom so metimes to kiss a lady's hand, and he supposed it was the Paris mode to kiss her foot. Therefore he did not hesitate to imprint a kiss upon the fascinating foot so near him, but he could not avoid saying:

'Thank you madam, for this new mode of making a lady's acquaintance. It is much better and certainly more generous than kissing the hand.'

The lady jumped up, highly indignant.

'Who are you, sir, and what do you mean?'

He gave his name.

'You are not, then, a corn doctor?'

'I am charmed to say, madam, that I am not.'

'But you sent me the corn doctor's card.'

It was true. Lasalle in going out that morning had picked up a card of a corn doctor from his bureau and put it in his pocket. This, without glancing at, he had given to the servant who had given it to her mistress. There was nothing to do but laugh over the joke.

Brusqueness and Want of Tact.

The Rev. Mark Pattison, who died some months ago, and who was a typical Englishman and scholar, was once appealed to by a violate American girl, as to whether he thought she could write a book, 'I had to disappoint her, poor thing!' he writes. 'I told her she was the most ignorant woman I ever met.'

Another young woman who had written some clever essays was astonished by his unasked criticism to the effect that he 'considered her conversation extremely feeble.' White he was dying he comforted his weeping wife with the remark:

'Oh yes, my dear! No doubt! No doubt! But you'll soon marry again. I've arranged that you shall be comfortable until you do.'

The lady soon, by the way, fulfilled his prophecy.

This brutal frankness is the trait which most widely separates the Englishman from his American cousin. The American is more sensitive and quick in sympathy. He is too, taught consideration for his neighbors from his cradle, and however candid he may be, learns to keep unpleasant truths affecting himself or others. But if the English boy finds a hole in his poorer schoolmate's shoe, he will harry him incessantly with coarse chaff about it. Why not? He would not hide a hole in his own shoe. The same brusqueness and want of tact is apparent in every rank of life.

A noted English author, while traveling through this country, appeared at a large dinner given in his honor in a flannel shirt and business suit. Glancing round the table, he muttered:

'Ah, evening dress! The custom at home. Quite so! Quite so! But I did not know that you dressed like gentlemen here.'

Canon Kingsley, while in this country, stunned the chairman of a literary club, who was welcoming him to a reception in somewhat florid terms, by staring at him curtly saying.' I considered your remark in a very bad taste. Then turning his back on him he walked away.

In none of these instances, probably did the Englishman wish to offend, nor was he concious of offending. The lack of that nervous sensitivenecs which he ridicules in the American, makes him unable to see this defect in his own good-breeding.—Youth's Companion.

Playing Fool.

An industrious young shoemaker fell into the habit of spending much time at a saloon near by. One by one his customers began to desert him. When his wife remonstrated with him for so neglecting his work for the saloon he would carelessly reply, 'Oh, I've just been down a little while playing pool.'

His little two-year-old caught the refrain, and would often ask, 'Is you goin' down to play fool, papa?'

Smith tried in vain to correct this word. The child persisted in his own pronunciation, and day by day, he accosted his father with 'Has you been playin' fool, papa?'

This made a deep impression on the shoemaker, as he realized that the question was being answered by the falling off of his customers and the growing wants of the household. He resolved again and again to quit the pool table, but weakly allowed the passion of play to hold him a long time. Finally he found himself out of work, out of money, and out of flour. Sitting on his bench one afternoon idle and despondent, he was heard to exclaim:

'No work again to-day—what I'm to do I don't know?'

'Why, papa,' prattled the baby, can't you run down and play fool some more?'

'O hush! you poor child,' groaned his father shame-stricken. That's the trouble. Papa has played fool too much already.'

But he never played it again, and to-day his home is comfortable and happy once more.

An editor having read in another paper that there is a tobacco, which if a man smoke or chew it, "will make him forget that he owes a dollar in the world," innocently concludes that many of his subscribers have been furnished with the article.

SIGNIFICANT!

Some of the Last Public Opinions of a Great Man.

New York Correspondence, Cleveland Leader.

One has a most excellent opportunity to study "man" as represented by the average New Yorkers. Among the wealthy classes, very many of them have the waxy skin, dropsical flesh, and "puffed eyes" that are indicative of serious kidney affection. "Bright's disease" is plainly written on their faces. Since General Logan's death the subject of rheumatism is being discussed by the medical profession.

Every intelligent person, with any knowledge of the human system, is well aware that if the kidneys are in good condition all unneccessary material is regularly carried off by them. If not, various acids, such as uric acid, one of the chief causes of rheumatism, are left in excess, creating deposits that cause all sorts of chronic organic diseases. It would seem, therefore, that rheumatism, like dropsy, is not a disease, but the result of a disease, and it is safe to say that if the stomach and kidneys are kept in healthful condition, there will be no deaths from rheumatism.

General Logan was well aware that his disease was of the kidneys, and once expressed himself in indignant terms at the folly of doctors treating him for rheumatism, when it was the kidneys that caused his attacks. The high living and the excesses in all things, prevalent among wealthy men in large cities, especially in New York, is the chief cause for Bright's disease, and the aristocratic trouble known as rheumatism, even as insufficient and improper food being about the same results among the very poor.

The above article, which we reproduce because of its general interest, is very significant. The public believes that rheumatism is an effect of diseased blood, this disease being caused by uric acid of kidney poison. Enough of this is developed daily to kill several men, and if it is not removed by the kidneys as fast as formed, it gradually ruins the health.

This fact is a scientific demonstration.

If doctors do not admit it, it is probably because they do not wish to attract attention to the menace deranged kidneys offers to the general health, since they have no authorized specific for these organs.

General Logan knew what his real trouble was, and he recognized the non-sense of treating the effects—the real seat of the disease was the kidneys. Senator Sittig, of Illinois, whose vote elected Logan senator after four months of balloting, tells us that Logan often complained to him of great distress in his kidneys. Disease of the kidneys always produces rheumatism, and besides that, it caused paralysis, apoplexy, impotency, stomach and blood disorders, brain troubles, female complaints and countless other diseases which would almost never develop if the blood was kept free of uric acid or kidney poison.

These facts the public recognizes even though medical gentlemen for very evident reasons, will not publicly acknowledge them, least, perchance, some proprietary medicine, like Warner's safe cure, which is sold by all dealers and is now admitted to be the only scientific specific, will get the benefit.

Fie on such bigotry! It has been authoritatively stated time and again that there can be no real sound health if there is any false action of the kidneys. Insurance companies refuse millions of risks on this ground alone, hence it is that there is such universal popularity given to the great preparation named—a popularity that is based upon intrinsic merit.

Too much dependence upon professional advice, especially in matters over which medical men admit they have no power, too often results very disastrously, but of what use to the victim is experience gained by fatal disaster!

How much better it is to be guided by an unprejudiced public opinion in such matters.

Had Logan been so guided he might have been spared many years.

Set Fire to His Little Brother.

LEBANON, Pa., April 14.—During the temporary absence of Mrs. Robert E. Shay from her residence in this city this morning her fourteen-year old son, Raymond, drew a burning splint from the stove and pointed it at the face of his little two-year-old brother who was sitting at the table. The little fellow's clothing was set on fire, and before the flames could be extinguished nearly every vestige of clothing was burned from his body. Dr. V. H. Allweir was quickly summoned, but on his arrival it was evident that the child's injuries would terminate fatally, which proved to be the case an hour later. The burning created great excitement.

UNCLE JUMBO was caught with a stolen chicken hid in his hat, and when asked how it came there, he replied: "Fore de Lord, boss, that fowl must have crawled up my breeches leg."

The Millheim Journal.

THURSDAY, APRIL 21ST, 1887.

Published by R. A. BUMILLER.

GOVERNOR Beaver sent in his first veto on Monday. He returned house bill No 3, the Bullit bill amendment, without his signature and the house sustained the veto unanimously.

FIRST Assistant Postmaster General Stevenson is confined to bed with an abscess in the inner cavity of his right ear, which will disable him for official duties for several weeks to come.

WOMAN'S suffrage seems to have a number of admirers in Pennsylvania's Senate. On last Wednesday a resolution to submit an amendment to the constitution granting the right of suffrage to women was adopted in that body, with 27 ayes against 16 nays.

WHAT a calamity! Cleveland is making so many enemies among the democrats, so say some of the Republican papers, that he hasn't the ghost of a chance for re-election. How thankful we are for their sympathy and how easing it is to our aching hearts.

R. S. MENAMIN, of Philadelphia, publisher of the Printer's Circular, died on Tuesday evening. For fifteen years he was secretary of the Pennsylvania editorial association, and was its president in 1884. The newspaper fraternity loses a well and favorably known member by his death.

THE bill amending the act of 1834, giving assessors two dollars a day, passed the lower house of representatives finally last Tuesday morning. Also the mercantile appraisers bill and the bill requiring a brand upon all goods, wares, &c. made for sale by convict or other labor in any penitentiary, reform school, &c.

IN speaking to a reporter about the next presidential campaign Mr. Cleveland said that as far as his renomination is concerned the matter has cost him very little thought. His time was entirely taken up with present duties which he strives to perform in such a manner that his successor will have to contend with no difficulties whatever. In his opinion it is the duty of his party to nominate the best man, in other words one who is best able to defend the rights of the people. Sound talk, that is.

CONGRESSMAN SCOTT, of Erie is said by the Burlington (N. J.) Gazette to be willing to bet $50,000 that President Cleveland will be renominated without serious opposition and re-elected at the proper time. Futhermore, he is said to be willing to wager a similar sum that the Republican party will make no Presidental nominations after 1892. The theory upon which the last wager is to be laid is that another defeat will disintegrate the Republican party, which Charles Wolfe insists is held together now only by the hope of a victory in 1888.

TRUE, the interstate commerce law is a very complicated piece of legislation and therefore causes much embarassment in some of the commercial channels of the country, but the assertion that it will go to pieces is altogether too premature. While the benefits which are claimed to result from the law can hardly be noticed in the infancy we have not the least doubt that the commission which has the execution of the measure in hands, and which consits of some of the ablest legal element in the land, will soon straighten out the tangles and things will move smoothly enough in due time.

AS ArborDay is coming every man, woman and child in Pennsylvania should get a young tree, a slip, a shrub, or a seed to plant on his or their grounds. There are so many reasons, says the Philadelphia Times, why the forests should be renewed as to furnish at least one that will appeal to every person. Rainfull and water supply; floods and droughts, public health and agriculture, the growth of the lumber demand and the decrease of the lumber supply, and last, but by no means least, the important influence of the beauttful in nature as an educator and refiner of the individual, unite in suggesting the universal observance of this new spring festival.

The farmer who would be independent in his old age, or who would leave a more valuable inheritance to his children than he could now do, can have his wish by planting a lot full of such valuable trees as the walnut and others that bring high prices in the lumber market. The man who has a country house which he may some day sell, will add to its value by surrounding it with the means of shade and fruit. There are few better permanent investments than well selected trees. Let every one prepare for Arbor Day.

Mutilated Notes.

A Ruling by the Treasury Department Which is of Interest to Bankers.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—There was received at the United States treasury for redemption a package of perfectly new United States notes of small denomination to the amount of 1,000, which were mutilated by having a hole punched through them, through which a cord had been passed and then sealed on the outside of the wrapper. The package was sent to Washington by express by a national bank in Texas. The mutilation was very evidently intended as an additional safeguard in the transportation of the notes. This is said to be the practice of many of the southern express companies in the transportation of money to the treasury for redemption, but the present is the first instance where new uninjured notes have been treated in this way. It is not known whether these particular notes were mutilated by the bank or by the express company, but it is thought at the department that it was done by the bank to secure exchange on New York at the expense of the government. Acting Treasurer Whelpley refused to receive the notes and directed their return to the bank at its expense, with a statement that such mutilation is considered a violation of law and will not be permitted by the Department.

The Pope Favors the Knights of Labor.

NEW YORK, April 18.—The Catholic News, of this city to-day received the following cable dispatch from Rome concerning the Pope and the Knights of Labor:

"ROME, April 18.—The Pope decided questions of the Knights of Labor in favor of that organization. This decision will stand so long as the present method pursued in furthering their aims prevails. The document of Cardinal Gibbons has been indorsed. The Pope further decides that in Canada, where a mandament had been issued against the Knights, the members of the order will receive absolution on promise of obedience to future decisions of the Holy See. If the Knights identify themselves with theories now being disseminated by certain agitators this decision in their favor will be revoked."

THE STATE LEGISLATURE.

THE HOUSE AGREES TO WIND UP ITS SESSION ON MAY 19.

HARRISBURG, April 18.—The entire session of the Senate to-night was devoted to the first reading of varions bills. The House adopted the report of the committee of ways and means amending the Senate concurrent resolution for final adjournment on May 5, changing the date to May 19.

The Interstate Commerce Secretaryship.

OMAHA, Neb., April 15.—S. B. Jonas, assistance general passenger agent of the Union Pacific railroad, has been offered the secretaryship of the interstate commerce commission. He will probably accept.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our regular correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, April 18, 1887.

A close observer of the dietetic habits of the Cabinet has discovered, and given to the world the result of his researches, that the only total abstainer who sits at Mr. Cleveland's Council Board is Attorney General Garland. He also discovered that Secretary Whitney's liquor bills were very large owing to his liberal hospitality. If anything were needed, however to demonstrate the leaning of the President towards the temperance cause, it is only necessary to point to the recent example set in this respect by the mistress of the White House, who without the least trace of fanaticism or intolerance, occupies the position that the drinking of intoxicating liquors is neither a proper thing to do nor encourage. It will be remember that when at the Diplomatic State dinner the customary seven or eight wines were served as usual to the guests, Mrs. Cleveland took only water.

Mrs. Cleveland's interesting personality continues to afford much material for the gossips and the press. Her most trivial saying and doing, and many things which she has never said or done, are constantly printed. She is now enjoying a season of quiet retirement and rest at the President's country place, "Oak View", and has not been at the White House for a fortnight.

The novel propcsition has been made that all the ladies who have presided as hostess of the Executive Mansion make arrangments for a meeting and reception in Washington. All the former Presidents have passed away, but there are still living eleven ladies who have occupied the position of first lady of the land. These are the widow of President Tyler and Mrs. Semple, her step daughter, now an inmate of the Louise Home in this city, who, during the period between her own mother's death and the second marriage of her father, was the the head of his household at the White House. Then there are the widow of President Polk, and Mr. Johnson, the niece of President Buchanan, who was for four years the mistress of the Mansion; Mrs. Pattison, the daughter of President Johnson; Mrs. Grant, who had the position for eight years; Mrs. Hayes, who had it four; Mrs. Garfield, who had it only six months; Mrs. McElroy, the last President Arthur's sister, who was lady of the White House during part of each of the three years of his term; Miss Rose Cleveland, who reigned fifteen months, and lastly, the young wife of the President.

Rheumatism and Neuralgia cured in 2 Days.

Miscellaneous News.

Anarchistic Enmity Showing Itself.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 17.— Three fires have been started in andabout the building of the New Yorker Zeitung. The last taking place early this morning and damaging the building and contents to an extent of $16,000. There is suspicion that the fires are the result of anarchistic enmity, developed through incendiaries.

Killed by too Much Hard Cider.

LANCASTER, April 17.—John Groh, an employe of the Holloware Works at Marietta, and a party of friends drank a large quantity of hard cider last night and Groh was subsequently found lying in front of the Railroad House unconscious. He was carried into the house, but died in a short time from paralysis of the brain, caused by the large amount of cider he had drank. He leaves a wife and two children.

Good Results in Every Case.

D. A. Bradford, wholesale paper dealer of Chattanooga, Tenn., writes that he was afflicted with a severe cold that settled on his lungs: had tried many remedies without benefit. Being induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, did so and was entirely cured by use of a few bottles. Since which time he has used it in his family for all Coughs and Colds with best results. This is the experience of thousands whose lives have been saved by this Wonderful Discovery.

Trial Bottles free at J. Eisenhuth's Drug Store.

A Very Foolish Act.

ERIE, Pa., April 18.—A party of young men on the New York ship Michigan started out on a fishing and gunning expedition in the country yesterday. Their horse grew balky, and Joseph Frick, who is "Jack of the Dust" on the ship, used his gun to persuade the animal to go ahead. The horse kicked, causing the gun to be discharged. The charge took effect in Frick's arm and shoulder, lacerating the limb so frightfully that it had to be amputated at the joint. He cannot survive.

He Said He Would Shoot.

Special to the Altoona Tribune.

PHILIPSBURG, Pa., April 17.—While a boy named Hay aged about 8 years, was walking down street yesterday a lad named Kline aged 10 years pulled a revolver out of his pocket and said, "I'll shoot you," and shot Hay in the head. The wound is not considered fatal but should it so prove Kline will in all probability be sent up for awhile. He had two revolvers on his person, a 22 and 32 calibre, that he had taken from a trunk at home and belonged to an older brother.

Three Miners Burned to Death.

CONNELLSVILLE, April 17.—The upper pit of the Davidson Coke Works, this place, caught fire yesterday afternoon and imprisoned three miners, all of whom are now believed to be dead. Their names are: Paul Nagle, William Roder and —— Shannan. The fire started in a small air shaft, near the entrance, and spread rapidly to the mine. The miners were quickly notified, and all escaped but the three men named. The mine is still burning, and all efforts to extinguish the flames have so far been fruitless. The imprisoned miners are all married men with families. The origin of the fire is unknown.

A Premature Explosion.

Five Men Killed and Six Injured, None of the Latter Fatally.

BUENA VISTA, Col., April 12.—At 5 o'clock last night a premature blast killed six men and wounded seven others at the camp of Kyner, Hibee & Bernard. The men were working in the 60-foot cut on the Midland grade, near Buena Vista. A 20-foot hole had been put down to blow off the face of the cut, and sprung with 26 kegs of black giant powder. The foreman was loading the charge, and when he had filled in ten kegs the charge prematurely exploded, throwing masses of rock into the cut where thirteen men were working, instantly killing six and wounding the others.

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE for May is on hand with its usual promptitude. Decidedly, so far, "Peterson" for 1887 has surpassed itself. If it go on as it has begun, this will be its jubilee-year in point of merit. This month's double-size colored fashion-plate will be greeted with extra eagetness by the ladies, as it contains several Parisian customes wholly novel in design, and as graceful as they are original. The steel-engraving is a beauty, and the crochet and embroidery patterns are very fresh and taking. The stories too, exceptionally good; "The Missing Link" is one of the best short tales we have read in a great while. In fact, the number is just a mass of good things from cover to cover; artistic beauty, literary interest, and household utility are so well combined, that there is ample choice for every taste, and a certainty of pleasing the most fastidious. Terms Two Dollars a year, with great reductions to clubs. Address PETERSON'S MAGAZINE, 306 Chestnut Street Philadelphia, Pa.

—Now that sudden and violent changes of weather occur every twenty four hours, almost everyone has a troublesome cold, which if neglected, may produce results that may trouble you for the remainder of your life. Dr. Kessler's Celebrated English Cough Medicine is especially deserving praise in this class of complaints. It never fails! It never disappoints! Instructions for treatment of croup and whooping-cough also accompany eagh bottle. Every family, especially where there is children, should have a bottle. Dissatisfied buyers can have their money refunded.

A DRUGGIST'S VERDICT.—W. E. George, one of the principal druggists of Philipsburg, Pa., writes:

"J. A. McDonald, Reedsville, Pa. Dear Sir:—One of the most prominent citizens of our city and a gentleman well-known and highly respected in the surrounding country, called at our store and voluntarily offered to go before a justice of the peace and testify in an affidavit to the virtue of your Blood Purifier, saying that he had used but three bottles, and was now entirely cured of a distressing and long continued attack of erysipelas, after having tried a number of other remedies without receiving any noticeable benefit. Please send us one dozen by express. We never had a medicine in our store that sells as readily or gave such universal satisfaction as your Blood Purifier."

For scrofula, erysipelas, tetter, salt rheum, skin diseases, humors, sores, eruptions, pimples, blotches, swellings, tumors, boils, ulcers, scald head, ringworm, syphilis, and blood disorders, no remedy ever devised equals in power and efficacy McDonald's Great Blood Purifier or Sarsaparillian Alterative. Warranted. Seventy-five cents per bottle at all dealers in medicine.

Over a Hundred Lives Lost.

LONDON, April 7.—It is reported that an English steamer has foundered off Bonifacio, Corsica, and that 150 liyes were lost.

SIX PERRONS KILLED.

Fatal Accident on the Chicago and Northwestern.

PALATINE, Ill., April 17.—While viewing the wreck of a freight train on the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, near this city to-day, six persons were killed by the bursting of a large water tank. It is supposed that the collision of the trains had jarred the immense tank containing a hundred thousand gallons of water and loosened or cracked the hoops, which gave way while a large crowd of country people were standing immediately under the structure. When it collapsed and fell it buried the people under the wreckage and water. Two boys and four men were killed outright; two other men were fatally and a number seriously injured.

An End to Bone Scraping.

Edward Shepherd, of Harrisburg, Ill., says: "Having received so much benefit from Electric Bitters, I feel it my duty to let suffering humanity know it. Have had a running sore on my leg for eight years; my doctors told me I would have to have the bone scraped or leg amputated. I used, instead, three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes Bucien's Arnica Salve, and my leg is now sound and well."

Electric Bitters are sold at fifty cents a bottle, and Bucien's Arnica Salve at 25c. per box by J. Eisenhuth.

TERRIFIC STORM IN OHIO AND WEST VIRGINIA.

Walnut Grove Struck Without a Moment's Notice—Dwelling Houses Blown Down and a Number of Persons Injured.

WHEELING, W. Va., April 15—The first genuine cyclone ever witnessed in this vicintiy was experienced this afternoon and wrought devastation over a section of the country, extending from St. Clairsville, Ohio, ten miles west, to a point as far east as this city. Little damage was done here. The high hills on both sides of the river sheltering houses, but the commotion in the upper air was noticed and a few roofs were damaged, houses were leveled, trees snapped off like pipe stems, horses and cattle prostrated and carried bodily hundreds of yards by the gale, and the sky was darkened with the clouds of flying debris. The storm and its effects showed all the distinguished character of the western cyclones. No casualties to persons are reported, the funnel-shaped cloud having been seen approaching in time for families to take refuge in cellars. The loss in St. Clairsville will reach $200,000. At Martin's Ferry 75 to 100 houses were more or less damaged, and the loss will reach $165,000. Every few minutes news comes of additional damage in the county, and it is safe to say it will exceed millions of dollars.

WHEELING, April 17.—All day today the sound of the saw and hammer broke the stillness of the Sabbath in the cyclone-wrecked towns of Martin's Ferry and St. Clairsville, over the river. Though two days have now elapsed since the storm, little progress is noticeable in clearing away the debris left by the storm, and a quarter of a century will scarcely efface its ravages. The destruction of groves, orchard and lawn trees is an item of the loss which is incalculable. All day thousands of sightseers have flocked to each of the two towns. Railroad and steamboat excursions brought the residents for miles around, and all the roads were lined with vehicles. Rain fell this afternoon adding to the damage, as many houses and valuable stocks of goods are yet roofless.

'YOU KNOW HOW IT IS YOURSELF.—There is not a particle of doubt but you have to this day a vivid recollection of the horrible, nauseating doses of wormseed tea or syrups forced down your throat twenty years ago by on over-solicituous aunt or grandmother who pronounced your case worms. You will be able to appreciate a vermifuge like McDonald's Celebrated Worm Powders. The most effectual and reliable worm destroyer of the age. So easy and pleasant to take the patient will never know a medicine is being administered. Money refunded to dissatisfied buyers.

--Henry Miller took a trip to Bellefonte yesterday.

—Preaching in the Lutheran church at this place next Sunday evening.

—Willis Bollinger is beautifying his home on Water street with a new fence.

—Monday's "beautiful" must have been woefully hard on the spring poets.

—Evaporated Peaches, fine Oranges and delicious Bananas at J.W.Stover's.

—Mr. Long, father of E. H. Long, of Fishers' Ferry, is in town on a visit.

—New Goods at Kauffman's.

—J. W. Stoyer keeps a full line of pure Drugs at his grocery on Main street.

—I. W. Buck, and wife, were off on a visit to Selinsgrove, and returned on Saturday.

—Michael Ulrich's premises south of town are gradually filling up with outbuildings.

—J. H. Reifsnyder, Esq., made a business trip to Bellefonte the forepart of the week.

—New Goods at Kauffman's.

—Samuel Campbell is confined to his residence on Main street, suffering with a sprained ankle.

—Harry Cohen, who figured as one of Millheim's merchants some time ago, is in town this week.

—Michael Zeigler advertises horses for sale. He keeps them in the stables of the National hotel on Main street.

—Sorry to say that there is no change for the better in the condition of Elias Musser, at the toll gate west of town.

CHOICE BRICK.—The undersigned has for sale a lot of choice brick.
C. C. LOSE, Rebersburg, Pa.

—Now come and take a look at the new shoes at Kauffman's. Ladies' fine Kid Shoes $1.75. Other shoes accordingly.

—W. J. Springer, the Lewisburg barber, was up last week on a little business. Jake seems in good humor and health.

—New Goods at Kauffman's.

—Don't forget that the finest assortment of groceries in town may be found at J. W. Stover's. Make it a point to call there.

—We heard quite a number say on Monday that in their recollection they do not know of as deep a snow so late in the season.

—Peter Walizer, who has been spending the winter at home, has again left for the West, to put in another summer's work there.

—H. O. Duck, of Penn Hall, is at present at Hyner, Clinton county, where he expects to be at some work for the next four months.

—Miss Laura M. Keller intends opening the spring term of her school in the Penn street primary school room next Monday, April 25th.

—Michael Maize has broken ground for a new house which he will erect on one of Dr. Stam's rear lots on Penn street during the summer.

—The Daily News, of Bellefonte, celebrated its seventh anniversary on Tuesday, and begins the 8th volume with bright business prospects.

—Monday's snow storm visited Lock Haven to the depth of ten inches. It is said that a similar storm occurred at this season of the year in 1854.

—New Goods at Kauffman's.

—Andrew Immel, formerly of Aaronsburg, has taken up his residence in Millheim. He rented the front part of J. W. Snook's tenant house on Penn street.

—E. H. Long bought a large dog of John Wolf, of Miles township. The dog is of the pointer variety and is to be trained for a watch dog in Kauffman's store.

—Wm. McCormick, an old and respected citizen of Potter's Mills, died on Monday of last week. Several tumors in his intestines were the cause of his death.

—C. W. Hartman is casting an iron fence which is to be placed around R. B. Hartman's burial lot on the old cemetery. It is to be an attractive and ornamental fence.

—Look out for the new advertisement of D. S. Kauffman & Co. in next week's issue. You can't miss it, for its size will be in proportion to their new stock of goods.

—As Spring is some weeks late, so the early wild flowers are about ten days behind time. The trailing arbutus generally in full bloom on the 15th of April, is as yet quite scarce.

—Housecleaning and gardening operations were effectually knocked out by last Monday's three-inch snow and subsequent rain. Screen doors and windows will have another week's rest.

—Why not go to a regular shoe store like J. H. Musser & Son's, to buy your boots and shoes, where you have many times the variety to select from than at a general store.

—A barn of Ira Ohl's, one mile west of Washington Furnace, Clinton county, was destroyed by fire on Thursday afternoon. Some live stock and all the grain and farm implements were burned.

—Landlord Musser's new cab was somewhat damaged one day last week by colliding with one of the large stones lying along the roadside on Penn street. Council should have the stones removed.

--Some talkative fellow gave us away to the Centre Democrat editor and of course that greedy local scribe hastened to make an item of it. It isn't safe to talk above a whisper when there are news paper men about.

—H. G. Shafer, of the National Hotel, has procured a new and comfortable hack to convey passengers from Coburn to Millheim. It has a capacity of seating twelve persons and carries the name "Oriole" in large letters.

—Carrol Kemp, a son of Rev. E. J. Wolf, D. D. of Gettysburg College, died last week, aged 10 years. We could not learn the cause of his death, but are told that he had been sick for several weeks past.

—We always keep some attractions in our store—but just now the chief attraction in our establishment is the immense pile of spring goods which we are receiving daily. First come, first served. D. S KAUFFMAN & Co.

—The contract for plastering the factory building was awarded to Wm. M. Shafer. The material is on the ground and the work will be begun this week yet. It is understood that the job is to be completed by the 15th of June.

—Mr. Charles Nau, a renowned musical director of New York City, who is at present located in Bellefonte, will be the manager of a May festival, which the Bellefonte people talk of getting up, and in which 400 boys and 300 girls are to participate.

—It is not often that we have the pleasure of a call from H. A. Mingle, Esq., of Aaronsburg, but when he does visit our office he means business from the word "go." Such was the case on Tuesday morning. We invite the Squire's frequent return.

—Thos. Burd, of Ellsworth, Kansas, arrived on yesterday morning's train and passed through town on his way to Aaronsburg, to pay his father, Levi Burd, a visit. He will spend a few weeks in this section with relatives before returning to his western home.

—Miss Kate Brumgard, the daughter of E. J. Brumgard, of this place is housed up with the measles. L. J. Noll's two sons, Elmer and Frank, and his daughter Mary, are afflicted in the same way, and Jacob Keen attends to to some of the farm work for Mr. Noll.

—The county commissioners propose to convert the bare and unsightly space between the court house and the jail in Bellefonte into a park, and appropriated $2000 for that purpose. It will no doubt be a very pleasant spot after you are there, but its nasty up-hill work to "get there."

—A. Walter returned from his southern trip last Saturday morning, but we are not authorized to give any of his adventures this week. He expects to satisfy the curiosity of our town readers himself by means of a communication which will appear in next week's JOURNAL.

—Philip Sarvis, an employe of the railroad company, was run down by a freight train, while walking on bridge No. 5 of the Northern Central road, near Sunbury to examine it, on Monday morning, and was crushed to death. He was 72 years of age and had been in the employ of the company nearly 25 years.

—By referring to J. Eisenhuth's Tinware and Stove advertisement on the fourth page, it will be noticed that the location of his shops, has been changed. The business is carried on in the basement rooms of D. I. Brown's residence on Main street, where all orders will be attended to promptly and cheaply.

—The way W. T. Mauck & Son, on Penn street, are shoving out furniture, is a caution. But that firm has profited by their experience which tells them that an advertisement put in the JOURNAL is bound to bring custom. Another fact not to be overlooked is that they always keep a well-selected and suitable stock of furniture on hand.

—Gentlemen will please notice the new advertisement of I. W. Buck, the enterprising tailor on North street. See what he has to say and give him a trial. He insures satisfactory work in all cases and more than that no one will ask. He respectfully solicits the trade of town and neighboring country. Read his spring announcement on our second page.

—Prof. Feehrer, of Selinsgrove, is with us and, judging from the rehearsals going on in the band room every evening, the band will have greatly improved after this week's instructions and their new music will be characteristic of the masterly style of composition for which little Joe is so renowned. The town may look for a rich musical treat towards the end of the week,

—R. B. Hartman's residence on Penn Street was the scene of a pleasant family reunion and social dinner on Tuesday, it being the 67th anniversary of his birthday. Mr. Hartman has quite an extensive posterity. He is the father of eight children, has 29 grandchildren and 5 great grandchildren. Nearly all of these partook of the dinner and a very nice time was had.

THE OUNCE OF PREVENTION.—The satisfaction of feeling safe from catching any disease from drinking water, from impure air, from a sick person, from contact with foul clothing, infection or contagion from any source, is complete and all anxiety allayed by the use of Darbys Prophylactic Fluid. A bottle will give you more safety, comfort and confidence than all the doctoring in the world.

—In passing Musser & Alexander's marble yards the other day we noticed a fine display of monuments ready to be put into the cemeteries. Their establishment is without doubt the best place far and wide to procure tasty and substantial work at the lowest prices. If in need of a monument, headstone, couch, or anything in that line you cannot do better than to call at their shops, east of Main street bridge.

MILLINERY.—Miss Sadie Grove, of Spring Mills, wishes to give notice that she received a fine assortment of goods from the well-known firm of Hill Brothers, of New York, beginning of the week and is ready to begin work to-day, April 21st, in her shop at Aaronsburg.

A $6000 BLAZE AT MILESBURG.—The Franklin House, at Milesburg, along with a restaurant and adjoining store building were destroyed by fire last Friday night. The Franklin House was an old structure, occupying a prominent place on the corner of the square, and was about four stories high. This building and the restaurant were owned by J. C. P. Jones. The store belonged to A. T. Boggs.

—The trout fishing season was fitly inaugurated in this place by Dr. J. F. Harter, who on last Friday wandered up to the Gap all by himself and quietly hooked eight fine specimens of the speckled fishes, the combined length of which was 72 inches. He wears the honors of being the first successful fisherman of the season with becoming dignity. It must be a cold day if Shady don't have a bite of some kind.

—DON'T GET CAUGHT this spring with your blood full of impurities, your digestion impaired, your appetite poor, kidneys and liver torpid, and whole system liable to be prostrated by disease—but get yourself into good condition, and ready for the changing and warmer, weather by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. It stands unequalled for purifying the blood, giving an appetite, and for a general spring medicine.

—The traveling swindler is abroad, seeking whom he may devour. We warn our readers against his "seductive smiles and cunning wiles." If there is anything you are in need of, come to town and buy of a reliable dealer. Be not deceived into purchasing any article of use from peddlers or traveling agents, not even if they can make exceeding low rates, and in no case part with your money until goods are delivered, for rest assured there is some swindling game on foot.

—At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Bald Eagle Valley Railroad Company, held in the city of Philadelphia, on last Tuesday. 12th inst., the following officers were elected for the ensuing year :

President, Hon. L. A. Mackey.

Directors, Andrew G. Curtin, J. N. DuBarry, James Duffy, John Irwin, Jr., James M. Gamble, John P. Green, C. A. Mayer, Wistar Morris, George B. Roberts, Edmund Smith, J. P. Shortridge, H. D. Welch.

—The Rev. Francis W. Tustin, Ph. D., professor of the Greek language and literature in Bucknell university, Lewisburg, died at his residence at that place on last Thursday of congestion of the brain. Professor Tustin was 52 years of age. He had been connected with the university for nearly thirty years, and was universally respected as a scholar and teacher. He leaves a wife and two children, Earnest Tustin, of the Philadelphia bar, and a daughter. The funeral took place on Monday.

—"Bertie Waltz" and "Semper Bonus," a brilliant march, are the latest compositions of Prof. J. H. Feehrer, the former piece having just been published by Brophy Bros., of Philadelphia. Prof. Feehrer is the author of the finest band music in the market, and his productions always find ready sale. The Millheim band are in possession of the above two pieces and we know whereof we speak when we say that both the waltz and the quickstep are very pleasing and symphonious compositions.

LET THERE BE LIGHT.—There are some parts of this town where it is actually dangerous to walk on dark evenings. In fact as soon as you leave the centre of Main street you are in the dark and stand all the chances of getting off the sidewalk to wade through a mud puddle or stumble over a pile of ashes or stones. We propose that the town council lay an extra tax of say one half mill to purchase a sufficient number of street lights and to keep them burning on dark nights. We are sure the majority of our citizens, especially those residing on the dark streets would gladly pay the additional tax for this purpose. Let there be light.

—A lot of low shoes, slippers and other styles, for summer wear, will arrive at our store beginning of next week. J. H. MUSSER & SON.

FOR SALE.—One Top Buggy, Sidebar Springs, One good Implement Wagon, One swell-body Sleigh, One Parlor Stove, with 60 feet of pipe and register. For terms and particulars inquire of
E. H. LONG,
Millheim, Pa.

—At least twenty different kinds and styles of Ladies' Fine Shoes now on hand, and almost as great a variety in Men's shoes at J. H. Musser & Son's Boot and Shoe store, on Main street.

--Prof. Lewis P. Bierly, who had been on a visit to friends in Brushvalley, passed through town yesterday afternoon en route for his place of residence, Conyngham, Luzerne Co., Pa. He stopped a few moments to call on the JOURNAL man.

—General Robert S. Brown, the authorized correspondent for the United States Agricultural department just made a trip through Northampton county and reports that the severe weather of March killed nine-tenths of all the wheat crop in that county. Farmers will barely be able to reap enough wheat for seeding purposes and keep their families in bread for a year.

POSTOFFICE ROBBERY.—The news that the postoffice and hardware in Musser & Smith's new building had been robbed during the night spread over town like wildfire on Thursday morning. As early as four o'clock Harry Hoy left town with the milk cans for the Spring Mills creamery and noticed that the door of the hardware had been burst open. He at once notified Mr. Musser of his discovery, and that gentleman found upon investigation that several dollars of cash change, some pocket knives and a mailbag key had been taken. The thieves were evidently amateurs in their profession, as they made a very bungling job of it. The front door looked as though it had been broken open with a very rude instrument while some of the drawers were badly damaged. A lot of half burned matches on the floor indicated what kind of light the burglars used for their night's work. The supposition is that several tramps who were seen on the streets the day before are the guilty parties.

—A JOURNAL subscriber at Wolf's store kindly furnished us the following items : Mrs. Geo. Chase, of Wolf's store will start for her new home in New York City on the 23d instant where her husband is engaged in the steam heat and electric light business. Her many friends here as well as at Bellefonte, where she had her home for eight years, wish her success in the metropolis of the Empire state.

Geo. Wate, of this place, who suffered from a cut in the left knee since the 14th of February, we are happy to state is on a fair way to recovery, and ere many weeks may be seen hopping along on crutches. This is one of the many evidences of Dr. Bright's medical proficiency, and we have sufficient reason to place great confidence in the doctor.

What has become of your school Mamie? Better try your luck with a number of old fogies and you will be sure of success. Too bad that a place like Wolf's store cannot afford as much as a term of summer school, where the streets are ever thronged with little folks who should be at school.

Neighboring News.

COBURN.

Owing to an error in the mails we did not "get there" last week.

The Whitmer mill was idle the greater part of last week.

Mr. Cassler and wife spent part of last week in Union county.

Thomas Zeigler, of Rebersburg, has contracted to burn a kiln of 200,000 brick about 2 miles west of Coburn for the new Lutheran church.

A new boardwalk which was badly needed has been put down from the depot to the hotel.

Considerable work has been done in gardens and yards the last week, the latter having been cleaned up and beautified.

Some of our Coburn people spend their Sundays fishing and roaming around. Pity they cannot find more profitable employment.

Preaching on Saturday evening last by Rev. Swengle.

And now snow has taken the place of the fine weather we have been having.

Mr. Strunk, of Mifflinburg, has been sent here as assistant at the station, Mr. Stover being removed and put out on the main line.

Jacob Whitmyer has the contract for floating the logs down the creek to the mills and has a number of hands at work. VALE.

GREEN BRIAR.

Mr. Hoy, of Millheim, who gathers up the cream in this neighborhood, for the Spring Mills creamery, seems to be doing a good business. Nearly all our farmers are doing away with butter churning.

Jacob Auman greatly improved the appearance of his home by new fences. His neighbors should do likewise and make our town look neat and tasty.

One night last week the house of Jacob Sanders caught on fire but the inmates never found it out until the following morning. The six-inch joist, together with the flooring were burned several feet around the stove pipe, and strange to say, the fire ceased burning of its own accord. The only way to account for it is that there was not draught enough to fan the flames. It was a close escape.

The Paradise Sunday school is doing splendidly with 100 scholars in attendance.

Mr. Alvin G. Harter, of the Selinsgrove Seminary, spent a few days at his home in this place last week.

Miss Tamie Herb is spending a few weeks with her brother in Sugar Valley.

Daniel Hosterman sold a good horse to M. M. Musser, of Aaronsburg. Where is John ?

Our friend and teacher, Mr. Ammon Loss, has left for Lock Haven to attend the State Normal school at that place. Success go with you, Ammon.

Daniel Baney, of Brushvalley, moved into the vacant house at Sobers' saw mill. He acts as engineer.

Jacob Snavely, an old citizen of this place, has been quite ill for some time,

ZITZKA.

SPRING MILLS.

The M. E. Congregation has decided to build a new church at this place. Work will be commenced at once.

Miss Mary Zeigler has gone to Muncy where she expects to learn dressmaking in all its branches.

P. J. Auman has accepted a situation in the creamery as assistant buttermaker.

L. C. Runkle is at home again with his mother. He had been in Philadelphia at the Medical College all winter, attending lectures.

We notice Domer G. Smith, a bright young man of Penn Hall, has become a student under Dr. Vanvalzah, of this place. *

AARONSBURG.

Mrs. Sallie Fisher, from Illinois, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Simon Rote and her brother, D. H. Rote, the jeweler.

North 2nd Street certainly takes the lead for good, substantial sidewalks. They now have an unbroken line from the house of C. C. Bell, at the extreme west end, to the Lutheran church on the hill. Please think over it, some of you Main streeters.

Our mountains north of town were on fire on Thursday of last week. By the timely interference of some few of our town folks the fire was soon put out. Some people become very fidgety at mountain fires.

What has become of "Jumbo," the Smithtown correspondent to the JOURNAL ? Well, the bible says something about one who could not be there, because he had taken unto himself a wife. Con't excuse you on that ground, C. D. Come, can't you join us again or send us another.

Chas. H. Stover, our tannery hill confectioner, has opened up the ice cream season. Charley thinks "the early bird catches the worm." Thos. Frank, of North 2nd St. will be ready to serve the people of that part of town with cream by next Saturday evening, providing winter ends.

Geo. Bollinger has gone to Nittany Valley to introduce his patent washer. George sees he has a good article and is therefore determined to push its sale.

Report says that several of our town dogs were running over the lower valley one night last week killing sheep. Messrs. William Bower and Jacob Winkleblech were the losers of several sheep. One of the dogs was shot, the rest escaped, but should meet a like fate.

We hardly know what to say about the creamery business. It certainly has put butter at a price almost beyond the reach of the poorer class of people. By reports just received there will be a creamery started in the lower valley, near Woodward. Some of the farmers are very seriously inclined that way. Go slow, gentlemen, it takes money and good Jersey cows to run a creamery successful.

On our way up to church on North 2nd St. last Sunday we noticed that some of the residents of that street are rather encroaching upon the rights of passing pedestrians. We mean that some of the wood piles threaten to fall on the boardwalks. Keep the cost clear, gentlemen.

Some of our boys or young men, we are told, tried to fire the mountain north of town on last Sunday afternoon. Can it be possible that we have boys who would be guilty of such an act.

ANOTHER.

REBERSBURG.

Laura Royer, who had been bedfast for several weeks, is again able to be up and around.

Jacob Gephart was called to Sugar Valley the other day to erect a lime stack for a Mr. Zellars at Toughtown. Jacob understands the business and follows that avocation quite extensively.

Scott Kerstetter, who occupied part of Samuel Condo's house moved on Monday evening to James Mallory's tenant house.

Ira Spangler was down with quinsey the greater part of last week, but is better at this writing.

Two horses belonging to Jonathan Spangler and Thomas Walker were very sick the past week with the staggers.

The two hirelings of Samuel Brumgart left last week.

William Bierly was out fishing the other day and succeded in catching one of the finny tribe.

Daniel Brumgart, who hauled lumber for Guiswite & Co., expects to move to Huntingdon county on Monday to help Luther Guiswite in the lumber business there.

Danl. Royer was to Bellefonte one day last week to attend the horse sale, but could not suit himself.

The carpenters have Austin Gramley's new house up and under roof.

Some of our farmers sowed their oats last week.

Adam Auman sold a valuable horse and purchased two others.

Scott Stover sold a fine calf, of Holstein stock to Jared Kreamer. Scott intends erecting a new barn on his premises in a few days.

J. K. Hosterman has the carpenters at work remodeling his house, which had become unsafe to reside in.

The four-inch snow on Monday was an unwelcome visitor to many of our farmers.

Mica Zeigler, from Nittany, was hereabouts visiting friends.

Charles Woodling, the tenor drum player of the Rebersburg band, is going to Spring Mills, to tap the telegraph instrument this summer.

John Weaver, of Coburn, visited friends and relations in this vicinity.

J. C. Morris and Prof. C. L. Gramley have the agency for the Patent Automatic school desks, a first class article. School boards, wishing to invest, should take a note of it.

Mrs. Wm. Weaver, of near Wolf's store, took sick very suddenly. We could not learn the nature of her illness.

John Harter, one of our merchants, rented a room of Mrs. Geo. Royer, which he will occupy as a sleeping room.

On last Friday Geo. Bollinger, of Aaronsburg, general agent for the Air washing machine, was in this town with a sample machine. He did some washing in the tannery, cleaning a dirty tannery suit and other articles, and the machine did its work to perfection.

NANOD.

SMITH TOWN.

The oats which some of our farmers sowed had quite a warm covering on Monday and Tuesday.

William Huey was obliged to stop work last week on account of a large number of boils on his body.

B. F. Frankenberger purchased one of the finest horses in the county on Tuesday. The ladies may now expect swift buggy rides.

The Bressler brothers also bought a splendid horse.

Miss Katie Bierly, of Madisonburg, came to this place last week with the intention of staying all summer. Miss Minnie Bierly, of the same place, is also sojourning here at present.

Since H. E. Duck moved to Millheim Penn township is without a Justice.

Prof. E. E. Bressler, of Snow Shoe, a son of Daniel Bressler, of this place, well known to nearly all the JOURNAL readers, was seen among us this week. We understand he is the father of a bouncing boy. JUMBO.

HOOD'S
COMPOUND EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA
TRADE MARK

The importance of purifying the blood cannot be overestimated, for without pure blood you cannot enjoy good health.

At this season nearly every one needs a good medicine to purify, vitalize, and enrich the blood, and we ask you to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. It strengthens and builds up the system, creates an appetite, and tones the digestion, while it eradicates disease. The peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation of the vegetable remedies used give to Hood's Sarsaparilla peculiar curative powers. No other medicine has such a record of wonderful cures. If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other instead. It is a Peculiar Medicine, and is worthy your confidence.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by all druggists. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

A SPECIFIC FOR MALARIA, RHEUMATISM, NERVOUS PROSTRATION, and all Germ Diseases.

FOR COLDS KASKINE HAS BEEN FOUND TO BE ALMOST A SPECIFIC. Superior to quinine.

Bellevue Hospital, N. Y., "Universally successful."

Mr. F. A. Miller, 630 East 157th street, New York, was cured by Kaskine of extreme malarial postration after seven years suffering. He had run down from 175 pounds to 97, began on Kaskine in June, 1886, went to work in one month, regained his full weight in six months. Quinine did him no good whatever.

Mr. Charles Baxter, architect, 133 East 126th street, New York, was cured by Kaskine of dumb ague in three months after quinine treatment for ten years.

Mrs. J. Lawson, 141 Bergen St., Brooklyn, was cured of malaria and nervous dyspepsia of many years standing by Kaskine, the quinine treatment having wholly failed.

Rev. Jas. L. Hall, Chaplain Albany Penitentiary, writes that Kaskine has cured his wife, after twenty years suffering from malaria and nervous dyspepsia.

Letter from the above persons, giving full details, will be sent on application.

Kaskine can be taken without any special medical advice. $1.00 per bottle. Sold by or sent by mail on receipt of price.

Miscellaneous News.

The Contract Comes to Pennsylvania.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Secretary Whitney to-day awarded to the Bethlehem iron works company, of Pennsylvania, the contracts for furnishing about 1,400 tons of steel gun forgings and 4,500 tons of steel armor plates, the total cost of which will be $4,512,938.29.

Another Art Craze.

The latest art work among ladies is known as the "French Craze," for decorating china, glassware, etc. It is something entirely new, and is both profitable and fascinating. It is very popular in New York, Boston and other Eastern cities. To ladies desiring to learn the Art, we will send an elegant china placque (size 18 inches,) handsomely decorated, for a model, together with a box of material, 100 colored designs assorted in flowers, animals, soldiers, landscapes, etc., complete, with full instructions, upon receipt of only $1.00. The placque alone is worth more than the amount charged. To every lady ordering this outfit who encloses the address of five other ladies interested in Art matters, to whom we can mail our new catalogue of Art Goods, we will enclose extra and without charge, an imitation hand-painted brass placque. Instruction book in painting, 16 colored pictures &c. only 15c. Embroidery Silk, best quality, all colors, 80cts per 100 skeins. Tinsel Braid, gold or silver, for art embroidery and needle work, large ball, only 15 cts. Macrame Cord, white, 40c per lb; any color, 60c per lb. Other goods at equally low prices. Address,

A Female Banker Skips.

She Takes With Her Fifty Thousand Dollars Belonging to the Depositors—Many Women Lose all their Earnings.

BOSTON, April 14.—The Herald states that Mrs. Sarah E. Howe, of Woman's bank fame, has absconded with $50,000 of the depositors' money. Ever since her release from confinement on the charge of swindling depositors in her bank, she has continued business, receiving deposits of money from women, paying or promising to pay an exceedingly high rate of interest thereon. A lady from Augusta, Me., called at Mrs. Howe's house last evening for the purpose of collecting the interest on a sum of money deposited with her. She was told by a man who came to the door that Mrs. Howe had skipped and had taken $50,000 with her. A warrant has been issued for Mrs. Howe's arrest, and the police are searching for her.

THE HUNTED MONARCH

Nihilists in New York Gloating Over the Attempts to Kill the Czar.

NEW YORK, April 14.—An indignation meeting of about five hundred Russian Jews was held here in Florence hall last night to protest against the ratification of the Russian-American extradition treaty. Ex-Naval Officer Rosenthal presided, and beside him sat Madame Luich, who escaped from Russia at the time of the czar's assassination. Several speakers gloated over the attempts upon the czar's life and delighted the audience to such an extent as to make them applaud enthusiastically. Loe Hartman, a deep-dyed nihilist, spoke. He said the two significant features of the government in Russia were the large number of persons ready to sacrifice their lives to kill the czar, and the spread of revolutionary ideas among the nihilists. He predicted that the czar would soon follow his father. The crowd cheered madly. He approved of sending money over to Russia to help along the same as the Irish people do, and asserted that the sympathies of Americans have been enlisted.

Miles of Timber Land in Berks and Schuylkill Counties Laid Waste.

READING, Pa., April 14.—Owing to the fact that no rain has fallen in the last two weeks, the forest fires that have prevailed in Berks and Schuylkill counties have spread over a vast extent of territory, and done incalculable damage to the young and growing timber. Between Stausstown, this county, and Pine Grove, Schuylkill county, a stretch of forest several miles in width, extending across the Blue Mountain, has been devastated. On the Irish Mountain, six miles north of Reading, an extensive fire prevailed, and the employes of the Temple and Mount Laurel furnaces were compelled to turn out and fight the flames. Along the line of the Wilmington and Northern railroad, nearly all the fields from Isabella to Joanna station burned over by sparks from locomotives. The farmers say it takes nearly all their time to fight the fire, much to their detriment, as it interferes with their spring work. They have had great difficulty to keep the fire from the Welsh Mountains. The forest fire between Hamburg and Shortlesville has been extinguished, after destroying property representing in value thousands of dollars.

Not a Single License.

The Huntingdon County Court Refuses All the Applicants.

HUNTINGDON, Pa., April 14.—In the quarter session court to-day every liquor license in the county was refused, and for the next year, if the decision of the court is not reversed by the supreme court, there will not be a bar in the whole county. The decision was made by the two associate judges and President Judge Furst, who was disposed to grant five or six and who filed a lenghty dissenting opinion. The associate judges and president judge are prominent temperance men, and while the former will not grant a license on moral grounds, the latter believes it his duty to grant when the applicants come within the requirements of the law. The causes will be appealed to the supreme court.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria,
